

Thursday, Jan. 30
5:00 – 7:00 p.m.

Stavros Center
at the University of South Florida
4202 E. Fowler Ave.,
Tampa

RSVP deadline:
Friday, Jan. 24
Dinner is included!

High school teachers participating in this workshop also may qualify to take part in a paid follow-up research study.

To register, go to tampabay.com/nie.

Space is limited.

If you register and cannot attend, please contact:
ordernie@tampabay.com
so that someone on the waiting list may attend.

The Gus A. Stavros Center for Free Enterprise and Economic Education at the University of South Florida, in collaboration with the Tampa Bay Times Newspaper in Education program and The James Madison Institute is proud to present:

Free workshop for teachers of grades 6 – 12

All About the Benjamins: Understanding the Value of Thrift

Using Informational Texts to Teach
Middle and High School Students
About Financial Literacy

About the workshop:

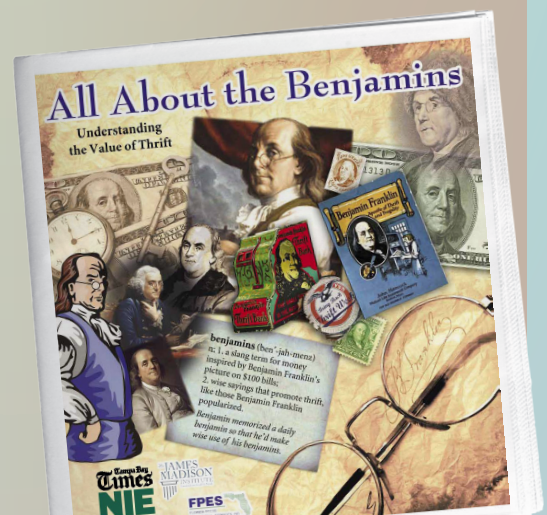

Based on the informational texts and curriculum created by the Tampa Bay Times Newspaper in Education program and The James Madison Institute, All About the Benjamins: Understanding the Value of Thrift will teach attendees about Financial Literacy.

The workshop will provide lesson ideas on using the texts to meet NGSSS Benchmarks in Social Studies and CCSS for Literacy. Texts included in the workshop are suitable for grades 6 – 12.

All teachers who attend will receive FREE COPIES of All About the Benjamins to use in their classrooms. Primary source documents, lesson plans and other informational texts that can be used to teach the concepts will also be provided.

Presenters:
Deborah Kozdras, Ph.D.,
Chief Creative Officer, Stavros Center
Jodi Pushkin
Manager, Tampa Bay Times NIE

William Mattox,
Resident Fellow,
The James Madison Institute

Register online at tampabay.com/nie