Edible Bookmarks: Encouraging Kids to Read

In September 2012, Papa Murphy's Pizza forged a partnership with many Tampa area schools. Now Papa Murphy's is offering this opportunity for YOUR school!

Why the focus on education? Local Tampa Papa Murphy's business owner, Cole Kilen, says, "My mom was a high school teacher. I know firsthand, it is not easy motivating kids to do their best. Edible Bookmarks is a way Papa Murphy's can help teachers in the classroom."

How does the Edible Bookmarks program work?

- Children must be age 12 or under to be eligible.
- Teacher/official school rep visits the nearest store to sign up and to collect the official Papa Murphy's bookmarks for each class. (Please call ahead if possible.)
- To participate, the teacher/school rep must provide teacher contact info, grade level, initials, number of students in each class and sign an honesty pledge to only share the bookmarks with the students in the classroom.
- Each time a child reads a book, the teacher initials the child's bookmark.
- When the card is full, the child's family turns in the bookmark at their local Papa Murphy's for a FREE pizza.
