Newspaper in Education

The Tampa Bay Times Newspaper in Education (NIE) program is a cooperative effort between schools and the Times Publishing Company to promote the use of newspapers in print and electronic form as educational resources.

Since the mid-1970s, NIE has provided schools with class sets of the Times, plus our award-winning original curriculum, at no cost to teachers or schools. With ever-shrinking school budgets, the newspaper has become an invaluable tool to teachers. In the Tampa Bay area, Times Publishing Company provides more than 5 million free newspapers and electronic licenses for teachers to use in their classrooms every school year.

The Times and our NIE curriculum are rich educational resources, offering teachers an up-to-the-minute, living text and source for countless projects in virtually every content area. Teachers, email ordernie@tampabay.com to become an NIE teacher. For information about how you can donate to NIE, call 800-333-7505, ext. 8138 or visit tampabay.com/nie.

Learn more about NIE on our website: tampabay.com/nie. Keep in the know about the Tampa Bay Times Newspaper in Education program by following us on Twitter: twitter.com/TBTimesNIE.

Hey, Kids!

I want you to hit a home run with Reading with the Rays this summer!

Once again, the Rays and I have teamed up with the Tampa Bay Times Newspaper in Education program to create a lineup of free summer reading fun. Our goals are to encourage you to read more this summer and to visit the library regularly before you return to school this fall. If we succeed in our efforts, then you, too, will succeed as part of our Read Your Way to the Ballpark program.

By reading books this summer, elementary school students in grades three through five in Citrus, Hernando, Hillsborough, Manatee, Pasco Polk and Pinellas counties can circle the bases – first, second, third and home – and collect prizes as they go. Make it all the way around to home and the ultimate reward is a ticket to a Rays game at Tropicana Field this season to see my teammates and me in action.

Check out this insert and you'll see what my teammates and I have to say about reading. Chris Archer, Sam Fuld, Joel Peralta, Ben Zobrist and I all enjoyed reading growing up and understand how it's helped us to become the people we are today.

Kids, you can get your game cards and prizes at public libraries in Citrus, Hernando, Hillsborough, Manatee, Pasco, Polk and Pinellas counties. Summer is baseball season, and it's also a great time to be in the library reading books and stories that interest you. Now get started reading, because I want to see you at the Trop soon!

Go Rays!

Common Core Standards

Florida has adopted new public school standards known as Common Core State Standards. These new standards are naturally embedded into all content courses. These standards provide a consistent, clear understanding of what students are expected to learn, so teachers and parents know what they need to do to help them. The standards are designed to be robust and relevant to the real world, reflecting the knowledge and skills that our young people need for success in college and careers.

Read around the bases

Stop the presses! Summer vacation has arrived, and it is time to stretch. Playing games and sports is a great way to exercise your body during the summer so you can be strong and healthy for the next school year. Keeping your mind strong and healthy is important, too. The best way to exercise your brain is by reading.

Tampa Bay Rays baseball players know the importance of staying healthy and strong and keeping their minds active. That is why the Rays have partnered with the Tampa Bay Times Newspaper in Education program and the Tampa Bay-area library systems to encourage and reward students for reading.

The choices are endless

On the pages of this Tampa Bay Times Newspaper in Education publication, you will see suggested reading for students in grades three through five. Between the covers of these books are action, adventure, comedy and new worlds for you to explore and learn about. You can find these adventures and more on the shelves of your local library.

You can choose to read these books or any books that interest you. You also can read the Tampa Bay Times. Reading the Tampa Bay Times can help you earn hours to read your way to the ballpark, too! Within the pages of your daily newspaper, in print or online, you will find news, sports, adventure, comics, classifieds and a lot of fun things to do and read about. You can follow articles about the Rays by Marc Topkin, Joe Smith, Gary Shelton or Tom Jones.

Line drive

For every hour you read, you will swing the bat to advance around the bases on the game card pictured on this page. Every time you arrive at a base, you can pick up a reward at your local library. When you reach home plate, you will receive one ticket to see the Rays in action.

The rules of the Read Your Way to the Ballpark game are simple.

- Choose your favorite books from your local library or select your favorite section of the Tampa Bay Times to read over the summer.
- Go to your local library to get your game card.
- As you read, track your hours by rounding the bases and collect Rays rewards along the way.
- When you read enough hours to get to first base, ask your parent or guardian to initial your card; then bring it to your local library.
- The librarian will initial your card and give you a reading reward.
- Round the bases by reading a total of 24 hours this summer and receive a ticket to a Rays game!

Keeping score

On the back of the card, keep track of your favorite books and articles you read this summer. Read around the bases — 24 hours total!

- ★ Read 3 hours to get from Home Plate to First Base
Reward: Reading with the Rays poster featuring Evan Longoria
- ★ Read 5 more hours to get from First to Second Base
Reward: Reading with the Rays jelly bracelet
- ★ Read 7 more hours to get from Second to Third Base
Reward: Evan Longoria arm sleeve
- ★ Read 9 more hours to get from Third Base to Home Plate
Reward: Reading with the Rays certificate authorized by Evan Longoria and voucher redeemable for one complimentary ticket to a 2013 Rays regular season home game (select dates and restrictions apply).

The academics of baseball

So, what do baseball and reading have in common? Sharpening your reading skills is a lot like sharpening skills for baseball. When baseball season has ended, the players do not become couch potatoes. They must exercise their bodies to stay in shape, just as you need to exercise your brain even though you are not in school. A pitcher would never enter a game without warming up his or her arm, so why would you enter a new school year without warming up your brain? Baseball, the thinking person's game, is a sport in which having a lot of knowledge and sharp, critical thinking skills leads to success. The best way to sharpen those skills and increase your knowledge base is through reading.

Fun baseball facts

-  In Major League Baseball, the distance between bases is 90 feet. The distance from the pitcher's mound to home plate is 60 feet, 6 inches.
-  Baseball began interleague play in 1997. The first interleague game was played on June 12, 1997.
-  Major league umpire Cal Hubbard is the only person in both the baseball and football halls of fame.
-  The last time a National League batter won the Triple Crown, Franklin Roosevelt was President of the United States.
-  On July 17, 1990, the Minnesota Twins entered the history books when they turned two triple plays in the same game.
-  Baseball stars from the National League and the American League played the first All-Star Game in 1933.
-  Pete Rose, who last played for the Cincinnati Reds and then was banned from baseball for life for betting on games while managing the team, holds the all-time record for hits (4,256) and games played (3,562).
-  Tampa native Luis Gonzalez became the first player to hit a home run into two bodies of water: McCovey Cove in San Francisco and the pool at Bank One Ballpark (now Chase Field) in Phoenix. He also was first player to hit a ball into the Rays Touch Tank.
-  On May 19, 2003, the then Tampa Bay Devil Rays became the first team ever in Major League history to climb over .500 after being 18 games under that mark.

Learning with the Times

Being a team player

Ben Zobrist knows the meaning of determination and teamwork. Look on the pages of the Tampa Bay Times for photos, illustrations, comics and headlines that represent teamwork and determination. Based on the items you find, write down how these items represent teamwork and determination. Also look for a newspaper article about a recent Tampa Bay Rays game. Find an example of teamwork in the article. Write down that example in your notes. Next, write a fully developed paragraph discussing the importance of teamwork at home, at school and in your community. Share your thoughts with your family and classmates.

RAYS SPOTLIGHT

BEN ZOBRIST

Super utility man Benjamin Thomas Zobrist was born on May 26, 1981, in Eureka, Ill. He is the longest-tenured Rays player. He and his wife, Julianna, have two children, a boy and a girl.

Do you remember the first book you ever read?

Zobrist: "In first, second and third grade I had to do book reports. I would always pick the sports books. I remember I really liked Little Lefty by Matt Christopher, about a little left-handed pitcher. I enjoyed reading books about sports."

Where do you read?

Zobrist: "I spend most of my time reading on the road. I read a lot on the plane, on the bus, in the hotel room and places like that. I can't read on the bus for too long, though, because I get car sick! I have a library at home and I prefer to read actual books, but I do read from the Kindle app on my phone on the road."

As an adult reader, do you prefer fiction or nonfiction reading?

Zobrist: "I like to read historical books. Nonfiction mostly for me, I'm not really a big novel reader, but I do enjoy factual, historical books."

Why is reading important in life or baseball?

Zobrist: "Reading affects my life in a lot of ways. If I couldn't read I'd be in a lot of trouble around the clubhouse, around town, stop signs, street names, all around my daily life. But I think the most important way reading affects me is being able to read to my kids. The biggest opportunity I get with reading is getting to enjoy that time with my kids. I enjoy being able to teach them how to read. It's fun."

What are your children's favorite books?

Zobrist: "They love the Curious George books. My son used to have me read the book Punchinello before bedtime every night. That's a funny little book."

Tampa Bay's favorite pastime

Baseball may be America's favorite pastime, but it also holds a special place in the heart of the Tampa Bay area. On Feb. 17, 1913, 100 years ago, Major League Baseball first planted roots in the Tampa Bay area. It was on that date that 36 members of the Chicago Cubs disembarked their Seaboard train No. 99 at Tampa's Union Station to begin a 31-day training camp.

Under manager Johnny Evers, the Cubs played at Tampa's Plant Field and stayed at the nearby 500-room Tampa Bay Hotel. The only other team training in Florida in 1913 was the Cleveland Indians in Pensacola. The Cubs trained anywhere from 2½ to five hours a day and played 11 games, including six games against the Yannigans (rookies). The Cubs also played three games against the Havana A's, a team of barnstorming Cuban stars, and the Cubs swept the series, winning 4-2, 12-4 and 17-1, their first three games in Tampa.

Around that same time, a former Pittsburgh laundry owner named Al Lang moved to St. Petersburg to benefit his health. He soon became interested in the local economy and focused on trying to help the sagging tourism industry. As a baseball fan, he believed the answer was to attract a major league team to St. Petersburg for spring training.

St. Petersburg and spring training

Nine teams have trained in St. Petersburg: the St. Louis Browns (1914), Philadelphia Phillies (1915-18), Boston Braves (1922-37), New York Yankees (1925-42; 1946-50; 1952-61), St. Louis Cardinals (1938-42; 1946-97), New York Giants (1951), New York Mets (1962-87), Baltimore Orioles (1993-95) and Rays (1998-2008). More major league spring training games have been played in St. Petersburg than in any other city.

Tampa has been the spring training home for seven major league clubs: the Chicago Cubs (1913-16), Cincinnati Reds (1931-42, 1946-87), Boston Red Sox (1919), Detroit Tigers (1930), Washington Senators (1920-29), Chicago White Sox (1954-59) and New York Yankees (1996-current).

Dream big

Joel Peralta was born and raised in the Dominican Republic. He is the youngest of five children and did not have his own glove until the age of 14. His father drove a tractor in the sugar cane fields and his mother worked as a school janitor to support the family. As a boy, Peralta idolized Pedro Martinez. Being a Major League Baseball player was a dream for Peralta. What are some of your dreams? What are your goals for the future? Look through the articles and photos in the Tampa Bay Times. Cut out headlines, words, photos and ads that will help you reach your goals. Create a collage. On the back of the collage, explain, in a fully developed paragraph, what the items shown represent to you. Use specific examples to highlight your points. Share your collage with your family and classmates.

If you build it, they will come

In 1914, Lang convinced the St. Louis Browns, under manager Branch Rickey, to move to St. Petersburg. A baseball committee, formed to attract a major league team to the city, raised $20,000 to buy a large tract of land for a ballpark. The site chosen for the field was Coffee Pot Bayou in St. Petersburg, where a 2,000-seat grandstand was built.

The first game between two major league teams was at Tampa's Plant Field on March 27, 1914, as the Grapefruit League was established. The Cubs hosted the Browns and Chicago prevailed, 3-2. The Cubs were fueled by Cy Williams' first-inning, two-run home run.

Over the past 100 years, Major League Baseball has had a presence in either Tampa or St. Petersburg for all but three years. Travel restrictions during World War II prohibited teams from traveling south for the spring from 1943 to 1945.

JOEL PERALTA

Pitcher Joel Peralta was born on March 23, 1976, in Bonao, Dominican Republic. Peralta is the youngest of five children. He did not own a baseball glove until he was 14 years old. The righthander carries the nickname “El Campeón” (the Champion), coined by Joe Maddon during their time together with the Angels.

Who was influential in getting you to read growing up?

Peralta: “My sister actually got me interested in reading. She helped me to understand how to read, and reading got me interested in history and science. With her encouraging me, I began to enjoy reading and it helped me to understand other subjects in school, as well.”

What is your favorite genre (science fiction, biographies, how to, history, literature)?

Peralta: “I like history. I like to read about the history of my country, the Dominican Republic.”

What was your favorite book growing up?

Peralta: “One of my favorite books is from back in the Dominican where I come from, called The Rhino. It’s about a rhino that got hurt but didn’t let that hold him back. He persevered and lived his life.”

Why is reading important?

Peralta: “I think it’s really important in life because it helps you advance in school. It helps you get into college and to be successful in life.”

Healthy eating

Evan Longoria considers food and cooking his first passion outside of baseball. Longoria, who cooks three or four times a week in the offseason, has been heavily involved in creating a healthy menu with the help of a couple chef friends in Las Vegas and New York for his new restaurant, Ducky's. Now it is your turn to plan a healthy menu. Plan a healthy eating week at your home to increase awareness of good nutrition. Go to choosemyplate.gov to see the United States Department of Agriculture's suggestions. Use the articles and advertisements in the Tampa Bay Times to help with suggestions for healthy eating. ## EVAN LONGORIA

Evan Michael Longoria was born on Oct. 7, 1985, in Downey, Calif. The third baseman made his major league debut in 2008. Longoria considers food and cooking his first passion outside of baseball, and is planning to open his first restaurant, Ducky's, early this season. Ducky's, located near the University of Tampa on West Kennedy Boulevard, will feature two duckpin (mini) bowling lanes and plenty of TVs.

Longoria is a classic car enthusiast. As a kid, he would watch his grandfather, a mechanic, work on cars at the gas station he owned. Longoria will donate more than $1 million during the life of his new contract to the Rays Baseball Foundation, which supports youth and education programs in the region. Longoria works closely with the Moffitt Cancer Center, the Tampa Sports Commission's Tampa's Got Wings program and the Pet Pal Animal Shelter in St. Petersburg.

On Feb. 20, 2013, Longoria became the proud father of a baby girl, Elle.

Longoria knows the importance of education. He studied criminology at Long Beach State University in California, and he has enjoyed reading since he was a child. During the 2010 season, at the age of 24, Evan became the first third baseman to make the All-Star team in each of his first three seasons.

Why is reading important in life or baseball?

Longoria: "I didn't fully appreciate the importance of reading as much as I should have growing up. Now, as an adult I see how important reading really is. It helps you to have a good vocabulary and expand your knowledge. There are books on every subject you can imagine. You can learn about anything in the world just by picking up a book."

How often do you read the newspaper?

Longoria: "I read the newspaper every day. I try to stay away from the sports section during baseball season, but I do like to read the business and economy sections. I really enjoy the lifestyle section, as well. The entertainment section interests me, reading about what new movies are coming out and so forth. I do the crossword puzzle every day in the clubhouse, as well."

Now that you are a parent, do you read to your child?

Longoria: "I'll be starting to read children's books to my daughter soon and I'm excited about that. At our baby shower, we asked for books instead of cards, so we have a collection of about 40 children's books to get us started."

How does reading affect your everyday life and/or career?

Longoria: "Reading is a great way to better myself. I can pick up a book and learn about anything I want to learn about. Growing my vocabulary and getting smarter without even knowing it is the fun part about reading."

At the Trop

Tropicana Field is the only major league ballpark to feature an artificial playing surface, AstroTurf, and all-dirt base paths.

Originally named the Florida Suncoast Dome, Tropicana Field has 1.1 million square feet that includes unique design features and fan amenities found nowhere else in the major leagues.

The current capacity of the Trop is 34,078 with a portion of the upper deck tarped.

The Rays Touch Tank opened in 2006 and is located just behind the right-center field wall. Through a unique partnership with the Florida Aquarium, there are over 20 cownose rays that fans can touch and feed throughout the game. The 10,000-gallon tank is sponsored by the Pinellas County Visitors Bureau and FloridaBeaches.com and is one of the 10 largest in the United States.

Tropicana Field features the world's second-largest cable-supported domed roof (the Georgia Dome is the largest). It's made of six acres of translucent, Teflon-coated fiberglass and it virtually supports itself with 180 miles of cables connected by struts. Opposing forces of tension and compression keep the roof in an arc. Tropicana Field's roof is slanted at a 6.5-degree angle, dropping from 225 feet above second base to 85 feet at the center field wall. It is built to withstand winds of up to 115 miles per hour.

Though originally built for baseball, Tropicana Field has hosted 14 other sports and competitive events. These include hockey, basketball, football, sprint car racing, gymnastics, soccer, tennis, weight lifting, ping-pong, karate, motorcycle racing, equestrian events, track and field and figure skating.

Tampa Bay officially became the Rays on Nov. 8, 2007. In the five seasons since then, they have averaged 92 wins per season, advanced to the postseason three times and won two American League East titles. Under the current three-division format, which was initiated in 1994, only the Yankees and Rays have won more than one AL East title over a full 162-game season. In the 10 previous seasons as the Devil Rays, Tampa Bay averaged only 65 wins per season.

Setting a good example

This year, Sam Fuld hosted the second annual Sam Fuld Diabetes Camp for 115 young diabetes patients in conjunction with the University of South Florida Diabetes Center. He, along with 10 other counselors — all Type 1 diabetics at the collegiate or professional level of sports, — gave their time to coach the young patients. Fuld is setting a good example in the Tampa Bay community by being a good role model. Look in the pages of the Tampa Bay Times, as well as the Internet, to find other people who are role models to others because of their actions. Make a list of the people you find and what they have done that shows good character. Be sure to list specific examples next to the person's name. Share what you have learned with your classmates and family.

SAM FULD

Outfielder Samuel Babson Fuld was born on Nov. 20, 1981, in Durham, N.H. Fuld has lived with Type 1 diabetes since he was 10. In February, Fuld hosted the second annual Sam Fuld Diabetes Camp for 115 young diabetes patients in conjunction with the University of South Florida Diabetes Center. He and his wife, Sarah, are parents of a 3-year-old son and a 1-year-old daughter.

Did you visit public libraries when you were growing up? Do you have any special memories connected to visiting libraries or reading in school?

Fuld: “I grew up in a college town at the University of New Hampshire where my dad worked. I remember going to the university library when I was as young as 5 years old. It was there that I started reading typical children’s books — Goodnight Moon, Shel Silverstein, stuff like that.”

What was your favorite book when you were younger?

Fuld: “I loved Hatchet, by Gary Paulsen. That was probably my favorite book growing up.”

How often do you read the newspaper?

Fuld: “I read it a lot on my phone now. I read articles constantly now on my phone. I read magazines a lot, Time magazine the Economist. I try to read as much as possible — not always actual books, but I think as long as I’m reading something like the newspaper or magazine articles I’m staying sharp.”

Now that you are a parent, do you read to your children?

Fuld: “Yes, right now we are really into the Berenstain Bears. Our collection is up to about eight or nine of them. We’ve got a long way to go to complete the collection, but we are definitely doing Berenstain Bears quite a bit right now. Where the Wild Things Are is a favorite of my son’s, as well.”

How does reading affect your everyday life and/or career?

Fuld: “It’s a great way to shut off all the pressure I put on myself as a player. It’s a great way to keep my mind off things. You can just get into you own world, find some peace and quiet and escape for a while.”

World War II: a game changer

The year was 1942 and Major League Baseball was in serious trouble. Young men 18 years of age and older were being drafted into the armed forces to help fight in World War II. Major League Baseball parks across the country were in danger of closing. That is when chewing-gum industrialist Philip K. Wrigley took charge of the situation. The solution was to create an all-girls' baseball league.

Clara Schillace, Ann Harnett, Edie Perlick and Shirley Jameson became the first women signed in the league. When women took the field for spring training in 1943, there were four teams: the Kenosha Comets, Racine Belles, Rockford Peaches and South Bend Blue Sox. You can read more about these teams, as well as the rest of the history of the AAGPBL, on the official website of the All-American Girls Professional Baseball League: aagpbl.org.

Negro National Leagues

You wouldn't know it from watching baseball today, but integration of African-Americans into Major League Baseball was not always the case. African-Americans eventually found their way to professional teams with white players; however, racism and Jim Crow laws would force African-American players off of the teams by 1900.

As a result, black players formed their own teams. In 1920, an organized league structure called the Negro National League was created in the Midwest.

Rules of play

How does baseball as played in the All-American Girls Professional Baseball League differ from men's baseball? With only a few exceptions, girls' baseball followed the same rules as men's professional baseball. However, there were differences in the pitching rules and the game setup. Using the information on the official website of the All-American Girls Professional Baseball League, research this topic. What are your thoughts about changing the rules of a boys' game for girls? Write a blog post about this issue. Use the format of the opinion and editorial articles from the Tampa Bay Times to help you write your posting. Share your thoughts with your class and family.

Right-handed pitcher Chris Archer was born on Sept. 26, 1988, in Raleigh, N.C. An avid reader, Archer completed Way of the Peaceful Warrior by Dan Millman and The Alchemist by Paulo Coelho during the offseason. Archer entered the 2013 season rated by Baseball America and the No. 2 prospect in the Rays organization.

Why is learning to read important to you?

Archer: "For me, the importance of reading and being educated is so I can better understand myself and articulate myself to others. Communication in this world is key; therefore being able to express myself as well as possible is crucial. Also, from reading I've learned from many people's successes and failures. I have a clearer picture of what it takes to become successful."

Who was influential in getting you to read growing up?

Archer: "I started my reading and self-education when I was 17. I feel that was too late. The earlier in life you start to read, the sooner you learn important life lessons. My mentor and parents are the ones who really encouraged me to read."

What genre of books did you like to read when you were younger?

Archer: "When I first started reading, I enjoyed motivational/self-improvement books. I also liked reading autobiographies to learn about others' paths to greatness. I now enjoy fiction books, such as The Alchemist, as well as spirituality books, such as Outwitting the Devil."

Read your way to the ballpark

America's favorite pastime ... reading

In addition to reading the Tampa Bay Times, Tampa Bay Rays mascot, Raymond, loves to read books. His favorite books are The Little Book of the Sea by Lorenz Schroter; Into the Sea by Brenda Z. Guiberson; Sea Dog by Dayle Gaetz and The Lucky Baseball Bat by Matt Christopher. You can check out some of these fun summer reading books at your local library.

Relaxing at your library

After a hard day at the ballpark, some of the Tampa Bay Rays like to relax with a good book or the Tampa Bay Times. Reading can be relaxing as well as entertaining. You can enjoy the best of both worlds this summer by participating in the Rays reading program.

Your local library can be a great place to have fun during the summer break. By reading books and exploring the Internet, you can have a lot of adventures. Books are your ticket to learning about the past and traveling around the world this summer. Be your own travel agent and choose destinations that will lead you right back to the Tampa Bay area and Tropicana Field. The best place to find your favorite books is at your library.

Hey, parents!

The No. 1 way to keep your family reading is with the daily newspaper. Encourage your children to participate in the Tampa Bay Times Newspaper in Education Reading with the Rays program. Have your children keep up with the Rays games and chart their favorite players' statistics.

Ripped from the headlines

As a journalist for your school newspaper, you are assigned the job of writing a newspaper article about one of the characters in a summer reading book. A good journalist must begin with six key questions: who, what, where, when, why and how. Before you plan your character interview, find an article in the e-Edition of the Tampa Bay Times and answer each of those six questions. Now that you see the pattern for a newspaper article, write a newspaper article about your favorite book.

Honesty is the best policy

The Rays mascot, Raymond, loves reading books, but he also likes reading the comics in the Tampa Bay Times. The comic strips in the newspaper often reflect real life. We can be pleased with this because there is much honesty that can be found among the characters in various comic strips. Read through the comic strips in the Times. As you read, look for examples of honesty or truthfulness in each character's speech and actions. Write a brief paragraph about the comic strip and the qualities you have discovered in the character or characters. Share your thoughts with your classmates and family.

RAYMOND

"LeVar Burton from Reading Rainbow first inspired me to read. Some of my favorite books are There's a Monster Under My Bed and the Hairy Potter series. Reading is fun! More importantly, reading opens doors to understanding and allows you to grow. Reading and baseball go ball-in-glove — you've got to read to understand the history of baseball and to learn how the game is played."

Raymond has been the Rays mascot since 1998, and he loves to read as many books as he can. You can see Raymond at all of the Rays games. Raymond is an awesome dancer and loves to play pranks on the other team. Raymond's favorite books are about baseball, food and dancing. When he's not at the games, you will probably find Raymond at a local library, reading stacks of books. Raymond also practices doing flips and eating a lot of hot dogs. The next time you see Raymond, ask him about reading. You are sure to get two thumbs up!

Colorful language

Sports stories often are written using colorful and expressive language. Sports writers try to use lively words to capture the special feelings and enthusiasm associated with sporting events. Words such as trounced, slaughtered and demolished may be used instead of lost or defeated. Read the sports articles in the Tampa Bay Times for a week. Make a list of all of the adjectives that are used that make the story more lively. Think about whether these words change the meaning of the story. Make a visual representation of the colorful words used and share them with your family or class.
