

Super committee is a super failure

Between the lines

"It is this partisan paralysis and political cowardice that I think is defining Washington," New York Mayor Michael Bloomberg.

"I will veto any effort to get rid of those automatic spending cuts domestic and defense spending," President Obama

Talking points

1. Congress is no super hero in cutting the deficit. Check your newspaper to see how the "super committee" flop and automatic spending cuts could affect your community.
2. Find editorials and cartoons dealing with the federal deficit.
3. Find out who who approved creating the committee and what they are saying now.
