Talking Points

1. What are these cartoons saying about Sen. Bernie Sanders suspending his campaign for president?
2. Sanders said he still wanted to influence the issues in the 2020 presidential race. How has he already changed the race?
3. Is raising the minimum wage and paying for health care and college tuition through taxes too radical for us? Why or why not?
4. How do those programs work in other countries?
5. Is bailing out corporations and small businesses or sending out emergency aid checks socialist?

Between the lines

"It was not long ago that people considered these ideas radical and fringe. Today, they are mainstream ideas, and many of them have already been implemented in cities across the country. That is what we have accomplished." - Bernie Sanders
