

The Denver Post Electronic Edition Quick Guide

Go to ColoradoNIE.com and click on The Denver Post logo to login. Email ColoradoNIE@DenverPost.com if you need help.

TIP: Do not use the back button on your browser when you are reading the electronic edition. It will kick you out of the e-edition. Use the navigation inside the eEdition instead.

Want activities to go along with the eEdition? Click on the links under Extras (1) on the left hand side.

Getting Around in the eEdition - To access sections, pages or articles, click on Table of Contents. (2)

- The Table of Contents lists each section with links to stories (the menu expands under each section). You can also choose Page Thumbnails for a small image of each page in the eEdition. Click on these to access a page or section.
- Close this when not using for larger newspaper viewing.

Browse the newspaper

- Move from page to page by placing your mouse at the top corners of the newspaper (on some browsers the pages curl down). Click on the right corner to move forward, click on the left corner to move back a page.
- Click on the arrows on either side of the page number in the middle of the menu bar. (3) You can also type in a page number to go directly there.
- SINGLE CLICK on a page to zoom in, click again to zoom out.

30 days of back issues

The Denver Post Electronic Edition Viewing and Saving Articles

DOUBLE CLICK on a headline to open the article in a new window.

Viewing Options (4)

- You can choose to fit to page height or page width.
- You can use the - and + options to zoom out and in.
- You can switch to single page mode or double page mode.

You can also read issues from the past 30 days.

Choose the issue you want by clicking on the Back Issues tab (5). You have thumbnails of the front pages of issues for the past 30 days. Click on the thumbnail to go to that date. Choose between two views: Text and Paper (the way the article appeared in the newspaper.) In paper view you can also zoom in and out to change the text size. (6)

Click on Translate for a choice of 50 languages. Click on Listen for an audio version of the story. (7)

TIP: Each time you see an article you want to read, click on the headline to enlarge it. That way you will get the article plus any accompanying photos, graphics, or charts.

Click on the icons (8)

- Envelope: e-mails a link to the article with an optional personalized note.
- Printer: prints the article with the date, section and page number.
- Save: bookmarks the article (not a good choice for students since it is specific to that computer).
- Share Application: choose between Digg this, Post to del.icio.us, and Copy Link to Clipboard.

$63M for flood relief OK'd

$63M for flood relief OK'd
Boulder, Larimer and Weld counties will get 80% of the federal relief funds.
By Kurtis Lee and Electa Draper

The Denver Post

LYONS» The federal government on Thursday said nearly $63 million in disaster-recovery funds will flow into Colorado to help counties with housing, infrastructure and economic rehab projects in the wake of September's deadly floods.

About 80 percent of the $62.8 million grant will be spent in Boulder, Larimer and Weld counties, where the communities hardest hit by floodwaters are located. More money may come in 2014, if damage tolls rise.

U.S. Housing and Urban Development Secretary Shaun Donovan, Gov. John Hickenlooper and Sens. Mark Udall and Michael Bennet toured snow-blanketed neighborhoods in Lyons on Thursday that just three months ago were ravaged by raging floodwaters.

"It's our job to make sure a town like Lyons can recover as fully and as effectively as possible," Donovan said.

The money comes from the Community Development Block Grant Disaster Recovery program and brings the total in federal flood relief — including Federal Emergency Management Assistance funds — to $185 million. The floods killed nine people, forced 18,000 from their homes, and damaged or destroyed thousands of residences and hundreds of businesses.

FEMA and other federal agencies have provided some aid but not enough for many in the hardest-hit areas, such as Lyons, where rebuilding is just beginning and resources are scant.

In Lyons, where tributaries of St. Vrain Creek come together, floodwaters ravaged two mobile home parks and older residential areas in the heart of town, as well as destroying the small town's core utilities and infrastructure.

"Twenty percent of our housing stock was impacted, so we're going to need solutions about temporary and permanent

Searching the eEdition is Easy

Click on the Search tab (9) to search for specific keywords. Under Look in you can choose between today's issue or all 30 days. Under Show you can choose articles, ads, pictures or all content. For each result, you'll get a small page thumbnail, a headline, first line, date, section and page number. Click on the thumbnail or headline to see the article on the page to the right. Click "full text" to view the text of the article in a new window.

The Denver Post, Friday, December 06, 2013 - ActivePaper Daily by Olive Software

constant contact constant contact mail Apple (358) Amazon eBay Yahoo! News (2,201) DNA Intranet

Contents Search 9 Back Issues Magazines 4A of 68

today's

Look in: The Denver Post: All issues Show: All content

Results 1-5 of 275 Sort: relevance / date page: 1 2 3 4 5 ... 55

Today's Jumble:
ALBUM DIGIT BOTANY INVITE When it came to protecting their castle, they were --'Moat-ivated...
(Dec 6, 2013, Comics, p. 13C) relevancy [|||||] full text

Today's Cryptoquip:
Those groups of furry water mammals were playing in a wholly silly way. It was otter nonsense!...
(Dec 6, 2013, Comics, p. 13C) relevancy [|||||] full text

Today's Talk
Good Morning America (CC) 7 a.m. 7. To be announced. (N) Today (CC) 7 a.m. 9. Singer Alexa Ray Joel...
(Dec 6, 2013, Comics, p. 13C) relevancy [|||||] full text

Jumble
Today's answers for both puzzles below Unscramble these four Jumbles, one letter to each square, to...
(Dec 6, 2013, Comics, p. 13C) relevancy [|||||] full text

Cryptoquip
TODAY'S CLUE: W E Q U A I S L L The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for an

DENVER & THE WEST

$63M for flood relief OK'd

Boulder, Larimer and Weld counties will get 80% of the federal relief funds.

By Kurtis Lee and Electa Draper

More money may come in 2014, if damage tolls rise.

U.S. Housing and Urban Development Secretary Shaun Donovan, Gov. John Hickenlooper and Sens. Mark Udall and Michael Bennet toured snow-blanketed neighborhoods in Lyons on Thursday that just three months ago were ravaged by raging floodwaters.

"It's our job to make sure a town like Lyons can recover as fully and as effectively as possible," Donovan said.

The money comes from the Community Development Block Grant Disaster Recovery program and brings the total in federal flood relief — including Federal Emergency Management Assistance funds — to $185 million. The floods killed nine people, forced 18,000 from their homes, and damaged or destroyed thousands of residences and hundreds of businesses.

FEMA and other federal agencies have provided some aid but not enough for many in the hardest-hit areas, such as Lyons, where rebuilding is just beginning and resources are scant.

In Lyons, where tributaries of St. Vrain Creek come together, floodwaters ravaged two mobile home parks and older residential areas in the heart of town, as well as destroying the small town's core utilities and infrastructure.

"Twenty percent of our housing stock was impacted, so we're going to need solutions about temporary and permanent

GRAND JURY INDICTS "MS. PUPPY" IN 2011 DOUBLE MURDER

By Jordan Metzl, The Denver Post

A Denver grand jury has indicted a man on two counts of murder at most three years after two men were found beaten to death in their home.

Grand jury foreperson, Judge David S. Dyer, said he was told by the grand jury that the man, identified as "MS. PUPPY," was the killer.

MS. PUPPY, a 34-year-old man, was indicted on two counts of first-degree murder and a count of second-degree murder, including death, identity theft, aggravated assault, possession of a deadly weapon and a probation violation, according to a news release from the Denver District Attorney's Office.

Raymond "Buster" Sanchez II, 36, in their Denver home in late February 2011, the allegedly were on the street their car, identities and names.

Sanchez and Paul Ramsey were found in the home and Sanchez was found in the home.

Police found Paul's body on the street in front of the home on South Street, on Feb. 11, 2011. One week later, police found Sanchez's body in the home's basement.

Each man died of three gunshot wounds to the back.

Many moving stories as charity, doctors step in Operation Walk USA doing 30 free surgeries in state

Links to eArchive (from April 2004 to present for Post and News) are found inside the e-Edition at the top of the "Extras" Column

The screenshot shows a web browser displaying the Denver Post website. The address bar shows the URL: digital.olivesoftware.com/Olive/ODE/DenverPostNIE/. The browser's address bar also shows "The Denver Post, Mo x" and navigation icons. The page content is divided into a left sidebar and a main news area.

Left Sidebar (e-Edition Archives):

- Contents Search Back Issues
- Extras | Table of Contents | Help Close
- The Denver Post Monday, November 18, 2013
- ColoradoNIE.com
- e-Edition Archives
 - Denver Post and Rocky Mountain News Archives
- e-Edition Activities! Get the most out of your e-Edition
- Activities using the news in your classroom
- INTERACTIVE SPOTLIGHT
 - News Video Weekly topics for discussion
 - Gray McRib photo goes viral
 - Discussion prompts & video archive.
- Youth Content
 - ColoradoKids
 - PDF Lessons
 - Word Bank
 - Assessment Test
 - Web Links

Main News Area:

At the top of the main area is a "CAR FOR SALE" advertisement. Below it is the newspaper masthead: "Voice of the Rocky Mountain Empire THE DENVER POST".

The main headline is: "Perfect ending Denver gives Kansas City first loss in AFC West showdown". The sub-headline reads: "Broncos 27, Chiefs 17".

Other headlines include: "2 dead in mine killed by gas" and "NATION & WORLD: TORNADES RIP THROUGH MIDWEST".

At the bottom of the page, there is a "NASA MISSION TO MARS" section with the sub-headline "To the red planet, from Colorado, with love".